

The Aviagen Anadolu Quality Policy

Aviagen Anadolu, a subsidiary of Aviagen that aims to supply the best-quality broiler breeders to its customers in order to feed the growing population around the world, is a leading supplier trusted domestically and internationally. As a responsible supplier, we maintain high levels of hygiene for food security, while ensuring animal health and welfare as one of the core principles in our operations. While strengthening our trusted supplier mission with our Avian Influenza free Compartment Status, we also maintain continuity in the supply chain. We provide strong support to our customers whenever they may require it. With our transparent and inclusive approach, we emphasize the importance of poultry farming to our customers and all relevant parties. Our target is to ensure the continuity of our competitive ability with our experience in production, strong background and our experienced and qualified workforce.

On the path to our target we pledge to;

- Conform to national and international standards, other obligations, in line with relevant legal legislations and continue to perform our operations accordingly,
- Manage our processes, with effective controls, in line with our strategic goals,
- Perform deliveries in full and on time in line with customer requests,
- Maintain to deliver our pledges, take necessary actions and increase the effectiveness of our quality management system by applying a risk-management approach throughout all we do,
- Obtain and manage the resources required for our operations and our quality management system,
- Ensure the active participation of all Aviagen Anadolu employees to the management system,
- Add value to our employees through activities tailored for them to enhance their skills, competencies and motivation,
- Implement, support and encourage sustainable and continuous improvement as the core culture of our institution,
- Adopt, effectively exercise and develop our quality management system as the core element of our activities.

and accept them as our core responsibilities.

As the Aviagen Anadolu family, with the awareness of our mission for the future generations, we proudly act in line with these responsibilities at all times and serve human health in a safe manner.
